Welcome to UCSB!

On behalf of the Office of Admissions and the Visitor Center, thank you for visiting campus today. Parking permits are required Monday through Sunday and can be purchased at the self-pay dispensers conveniently located throughout visitor lots. A valid permit must be displayed in your vehicle.

1 Visitor Center and Tour Instructions

The Visitor Center (VCen) is part of the Office of Admissions and an excellent resource for pre-admission information for prospective undergraduate students. The VCen is open to the public Monday through Friday (10 a.m. – 4 p.m.), excluding University holidays and administrative closures. In the month of April only, the VCen is open on Saturdays (10 a.m. – 2 p.m.).

For your convenience, on the reverse of this page, you will find information about our two distinct technology-aided tours – the “TourCast,” which you download onto your iPod or MP3 player; and, the SCVNGR application, which you upload onto your cell phone. Note: SCVNGR tour stops may differ from TourCast stops.

2 Campbell Hall and Cheadle Hall

Campbell Hall serves as a venue for Arts & Lectures films, performances, and guest speakers. This frequently-used facility is the largest auditorium on campus with 860 seats. Although Campbell Hall is often used as a classroom for large introductory courses, lower division classes at UCSB average 52 students while upper division classes average 36 students.

Along with the Office of Admissions and other administrative departments, Cheadle Hall houses the academic advising office for the College of Letters & Science (L&S) where students are provided assistance in deciding on a major and scheduling their courses. L&S enrolls approximately 2,000 graduate students and 17,500 undergraduates in 79 majors and 39 minors. Also, the Undergraduate Research and Creative Activities unit is located within L&S and provides resources for students in all colleges to pursue independent research under the guidance of faculty mentors.

3 Campus Green and Science Buildings

Under the shade of giant eucalyptus trees, you will find the Eternal Flame and other art installations on the Campus Green.

The east end of campus is home to facilities for Biological Sciences, Chemistry, Earth Science, Engineering, Psychology and Brain Sciences, and Physics.

4 Harold Frank Hall

Harold Frank Hall houses the advising office for the College of Engineering (COE), where students and faculty combine research in engineering and computer science with an entrepreneurial attitude to address challenges in the real world. COE enrolls approximately 700 graduate students and 1,200 undergraduates in five majors.

5 Davidson Library

In the Davidson Library, more than 3 million books and journals are enhanced by online access to all holdings of the University of California library system. Take the elevator to the eighth floor to see a model of the UCSB campus and enjoy a breathtaking view of the Santa Ynez Mountains, Pacific Ocean, and Channel Islands – after which the University-owned residence halls are named. Outside the library, the Arbor provides a place for students to study, socialize, and enjoy a slice of pizza.

6 College of Creative Studies

UCSB's College of Creative Studies (CCS) is unique in the UC system and is comprised of approximately 400 students. CCS offers eight majors, ranging from Biochemistry and Physics to Art and Literature, for focused undergraduates who are committed to creating new knowledge under faculty advisement in their chosen field.

7 Santa Rosa Residence Hall

Santa Rosa is one of eight University-owned residence halls. Check in at the front desk for an opportunity to view the model room. Student residents enjoy many amenities and programs including live-in resident assistants, study lounges, quiet hours, computer labs and in-room Internet connections. Special “Living-Learning Communities” unite students with similar academic, cultural, or social interests.

8 De La Guerra Dining Commons

In addition to De La Guerra, Housing & Residential Services operates three other dining commons for student residents: Carrillo, Ortega, and Portola. Meal plans include 10, 14, or 19 meals per-week, boasting healthful food and produce purchased from local growers. Although meals are all-you-can-eat, newly established “trayless” dining has reduced food waste by more than 50 percent.

9 University Center, MultiCultural Center, and Storke Tower

Located at the edge of a beautiful lagoon, the University Center (UCen) provides services for students, faculty, and staff. The UCen houses the UCSB Bookstore, the Community Housing Office, a post office, automated teller machines, and food courts.

Adjacent to the UCen is the Multicultural Center (MCC) where the campus community attends events celebrating diversity and culture.

Storke Tower is the tallest steel-and-cement structure in the tri-county area. The tower is 175-feet tall and houses a 61-bell carillon, played in occasional campus concerts.

10 Student Resource Building

The Student Resource Building (SRB) offers counseling, tutoring services, cultural centers, and computer labs. Departments housed in the SRB include the Office of International Students and Scholars, the Women's Center, Disabled Students Program, and the Resource Center for Sexual and Gender Diversity.

11 Events Center, Student Health, and Isla Vista

The Events Center, also known as the Thunderdome, seats 5,000 for UCSB NCAA Division I basketball and volleyball games, plus concerts and popular lectures (such as a notable visit by the Dalai Lama).

Student Health specializes in high quality, accessible health care and health education for the campus community.

Looking west, you will see the edge of the UCSB college town, Isla Vista. In about one square mile are approximately 23,000 residents, including 9,500 UCSB students, as well as theaters and other auditoriums used for course lectures and special events. Additionally, you can find coffee and bike shops, markets, restaurants, and other local retailers.

12 Recreation Center

The Recreation Center (Rec Cen) is a state-of-the-art fitness center that is a testament to UCSB's emphasis on healthy living. The Rec Cen allows for drop-in recreational use and includes aquatic facilities, weight rooms, aerobic machines, and numerous sport courts/fields. The Multi-Activity Court (MAC), located behind the main building, includes an Adventure Climbing Center, roller hockey rink, Jacuzzi, and pottery studio.
